```
fi_57_n_2
                                                                                     fi_59_n_14
                                                          fi_55_n_2
                                                                                         Iop Iop
                                                                         fi_57_n_1
                                                                                     fi_59_n_13
                                                          fi_55_n_1
                                                                                         Iop
#include <stdio.h>
                                                                                     fi_59_n_12
#define X 50
int fonction_test(int x , int y){
return x+y;
                                                                                         Iop
}
                                                                                     fi_59_n_11
                                                                                         Iop
void procedure_test(int x , int y){
int v = x+1;
}
                                                                                     fi_59_n_10
                                                                                         Icall
int main(void){
int x = 5;
                                                                                      fi_59_n_9
x = x+5;
int y = 6; Icall
int z = 15;
fonction test(x,y);
fonction_test(x,z);
                                                                                      fi_59_n_8
if(x == fonction_test(x,z))
{
                                                                                         Icall
          z = fonction_test(z,y);
                                                                                      fi_59_n_7
else {
          x = x+1;
                                                                              (Op.Ccomp Integers.Ceq)\non(Op.Ccomp Integers.Ceq)
return 0;
                                                                            fi_59_n_6
                                                                                     Icall
                                                                                               fi_59_n_4
                                                                                    fi_59_n_5
                                                                                                 Iop Iop
                                                                                          fi_59_n_3
                                                                                                      fi_59_n_2
                                                                                                       /Iop
                                                                                                  Iop
```

entry_point_55

entry_point_57

entry_point_59